

Letter to the Editor: Help to find housing in PA

Having safe and reliable housing is critical to a person's quality of life. June is national Homeownership Month, so it's the perfect time to remind people about the Pennsylvania Housing Finance Agency and its housing programs for state residents.

For homebuyers, we offer free housing counseling to walk them through the homebuying process. People with low credit scores can get help improving their credit ratings. Counseling agencies are located throughout Pennsylvania. Once people are ready to buy, PHFA has a variety of affordable mortgage loans available to make their dream of homeownership possible.

For renters, we offer an online apartment search tool that's free and easy to use. Check it out at www.PAHousingSearch.com.
