CONTINUING EDUCATION FOR HOUSING PROFESSIONALS

Registration is now open for PHFA's 2021 Multifamily Affordable Housing Conference

This year's conference is planned for July 21-22. This conference attracts attendees from across the multifamily housing industry with sessions related to property management, resident service coordination, fair housing and much more. Our 2019 conference was one of our largest ever, and we're hoping for an even better turnout this year!

In response to the pandemic, the conference has been redesigned for 2021 to be a virtual event. This new virtual format offers a unique educational opportunity including four amazing keynotes and several breakout sessions. Because the event is virtual, no travel is required. Attendees can participate conveniently from their home or office, saving them time and money.

Another great benefit of the virtual format is that attendees will have access to every educational session for three months after the conference has ended, providing unlimited access during that time for reviewing any and all seminars.

The conference agenda is available online. After viewing the educational offerings, please register via the Web.

Please note: The second link is to register only and hold your spot for attending. You will be able to pick your sessions closer to the conference. This helps us with conference planning.

If you have questions, please contact Mauricio Barahona at PHFA at mbarahona@phfa.org or 717.780.4353.

Past conferences have been extremely popular and well attended.
